

Chandler-Ullmann Student Gallery Project

Evan Orf
Tylor Teel

Advisor:
Jason
Travers

The designs for this gallery space in Chandler-Ullmann were drawn up initially by Greg Barber, '14, Evan Orf, '15, and Tylor Teel, '15, in their Architectural Drawing class, Fall of 2012, under the advisement of Professor Christine Ussler. With Greg abroad in Tokyo for the Spring 2013 semester, Evan and Tylor are continuing to modify their designs, with the hopes of building this gallery in the near future.

Our intent is to create a formal gallery space to display student work from Lehigh's Art, Architecture, and Design classes, to make up for loss of the Girdler Gallery space.

By presenting these initial designs, we hope to solicit feedback and constructive criticism from faculty and students, so that we might better enhance our designs, and continue to inch closer to making this gallery a reality.

300 Level

Shelving for 3-D models

Slidable cork panels for pin-up exhibits of student work

Corkboard covering existing wall for student work pin-up

200 Level

Large Television Screen displaying student work

Slidable cork panels for pin-up exhibits of student work

Television screen for scrolling announcements

New, paneled closet doors and moulding

Frames hanging from metal track for long-term student work display

New wood paneling system covering old tile

Television screen displaying scrolling announcements from AAD Department

Adjustable shelving for three dimension models replace current display cases

100 Level

New wall over current alcove space, Creating a closet to store supplies (e.g. stands for 3-D models)

